Kyrie, Christe, Kyrie eleison!

The petition is expressive of the earnestness with which we implore the Divine mercy.

LEISON

Our creation, our redemption and our sanctification are effects of God's mercy. We need not fear to ask for great mercies; the more He gives, the more glory He receives. His mercy is as a great and boundless ocean which envelops us; we need but reach out to draw therefrom. It is true, God's justice demands its rights, but precisely on account of His justice God will be merciful to those who implore mercy, because of justice to His only-begotten Son, Who has paid so great a price to obtain mercy for us.

A poet was gazing one day at a beautiful rose tree. "What a pity," said he, "that these roses have thorns!" A man who was passing by said to him: "Let us rather thank our good God for having allowed these thorns to have roses." Ah! How ought we also to thank Him for so many joys that He grants to us in spite of our sins, instead of complaining about the slight troubles that He sends us!

"For from the rising of the sun even to the going down, my name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place there is sacrifice, and there is offered to my name a clean oblation: for my name is great among the Gentiles, saith the Lord of hosts." Malachi 1:11
