For the month of October - on the Holy Angels

God bestowed on the angels great WISDOM, POWER and HOLINESS.

The angels are the most excellent beings created by God. They are nobler in nature than men. They know more, and have greater power. Of all God's creatures, angels most resemble Him.

The angels were not created equal. They rank according to the gifts given them by God, and the work assigned to them.

God gave free will to the angels, as He did to men. He put them to a test, that they might earn the happiness of heaven. In this trial, many angels abused their free will, refusing to submit themselves to God; for this serious sin they were punished. The angels who remained faithful to God entered into the eternal happiness of heaven. There they behold the Face of God continually, praise and glorify Him, and are perfectly happy in His presence.

Certain angels have special charge of nations, communities, churches, etc. The angel who appeared to the seers at Fatima identified himself as the Angel of Portugal, the Angel of Peace.

Our Guardian Angels help us by praying for us, by protecting us from harm, and by inspiring us to do good. They watch over us from birth to death. They put good thoughts into our minds, moving our will to what is good. They protect us in dangers of soul and body. They offer our prayers and good works to God, they pray for us, and they help us in our work and needs.

St. Francis de Sales had a particular devotion to his guardian angel; he celebrated the feast with special care and piety; in spirit he received his blessing in the most important actions of his life; and not only was he devout to his good angel, but also to the angels of his friends. He had even a devotion to those of the heretics, his enemies; for he said that in disputing with the Huguenots he exorcised the demons who possessed and obsessed them, and afterward invoked their angels. When he was absent from his diocese, he recommended it in an especial manner to the care of his holy angel. He never failed to salute the angels of the kingdoms, provinces, or parishes which he entered. In the confessional he frequently invoked the guardian angel of his penitent, and we may read in his letters how much he recommended to his pious friends devotion to their guardian angel. He said that in this world the angels attend to almost everything, as they are the messengers of God, and invisible; and that to accomplish much for His divine service and not wish to appear was to serve God in an angelic manner.

More on Visits to the Blessed Sacrament, from My Daily Bread

MY CHILD, it is not enough to believe in My Real Presence. I place Myself upon the altar for love of you. I want to be near you, so you might visit Me as often as you wish. Make a greater effort to come close to Me. You have the privilege of kneeling before Me like the simple, wonderful shepherds; the tired, admiring Magi; the suffering, begging leper; the penitent, hopeful Magdalen; the convinced, converted Thomas. How are you taking advantage of this privilege?

How much easier it will be for you to face Me in judgment if you have loved to face Me often during life. Each visit to Me is an act of faith, of love, and of self-purification. Come to Me often, so I may shower more of My gifts upon your soul.

MY JESUS, truly present in the Blessed Sacrament, grant me the grace to grow in appreciating this wondrous Gift. How often could I come to You with a slight effort or even inconvenience! Yet, I fail to do so.

This sacrament is a living proof of Your love for me. I hope to show my love by a greater devotion toward You from now on. You will see me more than just once a week. Yes, I shall visit You. I want to give You more of my attention, my time, my interest, and my life. Amen.
